

The Skills Support for Redundancy (SSR) programme is co-funded by the Education and Skills Funding Agency and the European Social Fund; it is designed to support those who are at risk of redundancy, or whom have experienced redundancy in the last three months.

We work closely with the DWP, National Careers Service and other organisations as needed to implement support required during an often difficult and stressful time. Help is on hand.

Support for EMPLOYERS

If you are facing a possible company restructure or the prospect of staff redundancies, we can support you to support your staff.

Our redundancy programme provides support to the individuals impacted by the changes that your organisation needs to make.

We offer a range of accredited training, careers advice, and support to help individuals move into alternative job roles, or transition into new career paths.

Support for INDIVIDUALS

If you are currently facing the prospect of redundancy, or find yourself unemployed due to redundancy in the last three months, we can support you with your next steps.

Our redundancy programme offers you access to:

- A range of UK officially accredited qualifications to either boost your skills or retrain into a new sector
- Careers Guidance
- Identifying transferable skills
- Help back into employment

Our support package is tailored to meet individual and company needs. Programmes are planned and reviewed by experience and qualified colleagues.

To enquire about support for you or your company please email:
